Read the passage. Tick (✓) True (T) or False (F) for statements 1–4, then choose the correct answer A, B, C or D for questions 5–6.

Besides its beauty, the countryside of Britain is well known for its many contrasts: its bare mountains and moorland, its lakes, rivers and woods, and its long, often wild coastline. National parks which are protected from development by the government have the most beautiful and picturesque scenery. British people often associate the countryside with farmland, open spaces like fields of wheat and barley, green fields enclosed by hedges or stone walls in which cows or sheep are raised. Most farmland is now owned by individual people or independent companies. However, the government has built a network of public footpaths across the farmland.

Many British people enjoy the peace and relaxation of life in the countryside where they can spend their free time walking, cycling, or going for a picnic or a pub lunch. In summer they can pick strawberries and other fruit in fruit farms. Nowadays, few rural people work on farms. Many of them commute to work in towns. Many others wish to live in the countryside so that they could have a better and healthier lifestyle.

Statements	T	F
1. The British countryside is known only for its beautiful scenery without any contrasts.
2. National parks in Britain are protected from development by the government.
3. Most farmland in Britain is owned by the government.
4. Today, many people living in rural areas travel to work in towns every day.
